

L'ESSENTIEL

June 7th, 2019

Vol. 73

“FUTURE WRITING TALENT” THE NEW ADMISSION CRITERIA FOR TOP UNIVERSITIES

The top universities of this country all created a new opportunity for students hoping to enrol. Each university taking part in this program created a “future writing talent” contest, and the winner of this context will be offered a place at the university, regardless of their grades or CV. This initiative was created in the hopes of encouraging students that may not have conventional “strength” to aim for the elite of the country. This initiative is new and fresh, and we hope to see positive results in the next few years, and see it implemented permanently. Details on page 4.

A HIGH SCHOOLER FOUND DEAD IN A CREVICE

A high schooler was found dead in a crevice yesterday morning. The preliminary investigation leans toward an accident. The young boy was coming back late at night while it had been raining. He must have slipped and fallen in the crevice. Badly injured he died around 2 in the morning. Schools will hold a minute of silence in his memory. More about this story on page 7.

ANOTHER STEP IN LEGALISING MARIJUANA IN LUXEMBOURG

The ministry of health stated this morning that negotiations to legalise marijuana in Luxembourg had moved forward. The current agreement is that marijuana will be made legal to use at home, while still being illegal to use on the street. Supply of marijuana will be either personal (the individual will be allowed to grow their own plant, but not to sell) or by the government, that will regulate production themselves. More on page 6.